

Investigations have been described by Maher (2004) as:

'a reaction to a piece of information or intelligence, an observation, allegation or complaint about an event'

Investigations extend far beyond this simple definition.

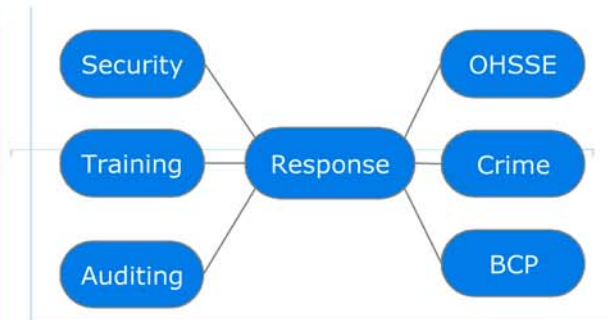

Investigations in our experience are limited only by the people conducting the inquiry.

In many respects there are no problems only people without solutions.

An investigative response is a rational starting point to problem solving.

Investigation Systems specializes in finding solutions in these problem areas:

- Aged Care Safety & Security Inspections
- Annual Safety Statement
- Auditing
- Business Continuity Planning
- Crime Reduction
- Emergency Response
- Environment
- Expert Witness
- Fraud
- Occupational Health & Safety
- Retirement Village Safety & Security Inspections
- Risk Assessment
- Security
- Training
- Workers Compensation
- Workplace violence
